Letters and Petitions from Citizens

LETTER TO FLORIDA DENTAL BOARD

Florida Dental Board
452 Bald Cypress Way
Tallahassee, FL 32399
Fax (407) 299-4149

The undersigned citizens strongly oppose Rule 64B5-4.002 – Advertising and Soliciting and Rule 64B5-17.014 – Removal of Amalgam Fillings which were recently passed by the your Board which prevents dentists from informing the public about scientific studies showing the toxic effects of mercury in the human system and prevents citizens from having access to the complementary and alternative health care method of removal of mercury amalgam fillings in contravention of the Health Freedom Law, S.1324.

Amalgam fillings are 50% mercury and mercury is clearly labeled hazardous material when shipped to the dentist. The left over amalgam plus any removed amalgam and any extracted tooth with amalgam is required to be labeled and disposed of as hazardous waste. The Florida Dental Board is trying to pass rules to prevent dentists from informing the public of scientific studies showing mercury to be toxic to the human body and to force citizens to keep amalgams in their mouth claiming it is safe in the mouth. The Florida Board further wants to punish dentists who would remove amalgams by a suspension of their license for 6 months or more, or revocation of their license.

We urge you to respect our freedom of choice of health care as well as the law and withdraw these rules at your next meeting.

Dear Friends,

Your help is needed.

You would lose your right to be informed of toxic materials placed in your body.

You would lose your right to choose to have poisonous materials removed from your body.

The Florida Board of Dentistry is proposing rules that will become law if we don't act right now. The 'Good Ole Boys' of the Florida Board want to restrict your freedom to choose what you have placed in or removed from your mouth. They're afraid of the public being informed of the toxicity of mercury they have used in dentistry.

The use of the acute neuro-toxin mercury has been banned from use in vaccines, thermometers, contact lens solution and disinfectants in some states. Mercury is the most toxic non-radioactive metal on earth.

If these rules become law, dentists in Florida would be forbidden from warning you about the dangers of silver/mercury amalgam dental fillings. These laws would prevent your dentist from eliminating your exposure to mercury for health reasons by removing your old silver/mercury amalgam fillings, even if you demanded and insisted that the mercury fillings be removed. If you wanted your silver/mercury fillings taken out for health reasons, your dentist would be committing a crime by replacing your silver/mercury fillings.

The Florida Board is trying to get these rules passed to circumvent the recently passed Florida 'Health Freedom Act' (SB1324) that gives patients the right to be informed of alternative treatments and their benefits and disadvantages. (One of the supporters that helped push this bill through the state legislature had health benefits after he had his silver/mercury fillings removed.) The Florida Board is trying to get around this with these rules.

The American Public Health Association and the California Medical Association have called for the elimination of putting any mercury in the human body. Congresswoman Diane Watson proposed a law to get rid of mercury dental fillings.

On the other hand, the American Dental Association (ADA) accepts payments from dental silver/mercury amalgam manufacturers for endorsing their products, and, the ADA says that silver/mercury fillings are safe. The ADA has ties to The Florida Dental Association (FDA). And the FDA has ties to the Florida Dental Board. Mercury is considered a very dangerous controlled substance before it is placed in a patient's mouth, and after it has been taken out, it is considered a hazardous waste. But what about when it is in a patient's mouth?

You can show your opposition to these rules by attending an open hearing the Florida Board of Dentistry will have in Tampa on Friday, January 18th, at 1:00 PM at the Hilton Tampa Airport Westshore, 2225 North Lois Ave. (north of I-275 Exit 22), Tampa, FL. (813-877-6688). Simply by being there the Board of Dentistry will get the idea that we, as consumers, want the right to choose our healthcare alternatives.

If you cannot attend, notify your local State Representative and State Senator of your feelings. [located in the blue pages of the white page telephone book under "Officials"] Also, sign and send in this petition:

To: The Florida Board of Dentistry

From: Billie R. Niemann

I would like to register my vehement opposition to your proposed "rule", a decree banning replacement of dental amalgam in non-allergic patients with all of its insidious implications.

First, this is in direct violation to the Senate Bill 1324, recently signed into law by Governor Jeb Bush which was "designed to assure that licensed practitioners enjoy the freedom to innovate, and dentists have the right to replace amalgams with the informed consent of the patient, for whatever reason."¹

Second, this rule is a direct affront to the freedom of speech guaranteed dentists and Americans in the First Amendment, and the right of all Americans to be informed of any possible hazards of materials being introduced into our bodies.

Third, suits have been filed in June 2001 in California alleging "that the ADA and its California affiliate, the CDA, have acted with a conflict of interest, hiding their economic stake in amalgam sales."² Do we have a situation in Florida where the FDA has an investment in amalgam material and sales?

An individual party in Maryland has won the right to sue individual members of the Maryland Dental Board "for violations of the first amendment or other violations of the U.S. Constitution. The judge noted what appeared to be a mosaic of chilling actions by the board to suppress the dentist's right to speak freely to patients about the supposed dangers of mercury fillings."³

Finally, when I see events on the news where a child has brought mercury to a school (broken thermometer, I believe) and the school is evacuated, and the hazardous waste folks arrive in special suits to clean the area, I do feel uneasy that the same material is in our teeth.

I realize it is in compound in our teeth, but is the FDA or the ADA willing to give us a written guarantee that nothing can make it come out of compound, and be liable for the consequences if it does? I don't think so.

This is America. We are free in America. No one can tell Americans what they must have in their teeth or what they cannot remove from their teeth. Please dispense immediately with your oppressive rule.

Footnotes^{1,2,3} are quoted from Dental Truth, a publication of DAMS, Inc., year 2001, issues 2 & 3, October 2001

These laws would prevent your dentist from eliminating your exposure to mercury for health reasons by removing your old silver/mercury amalgam fillings, even if you demanded and insisted that the mercury fillings be removed. If you wanted your silver/mercury fillings taken out for health reasons, your dentist would be committing a crime by replacing your silver/mercury fillings.

The Florida Board is trying to get these rules passed to circumvent the recently passed Florida 'Health Freedom Act' (SB1324) that gives patients the right to be informed of alternative treatments and their benefits and disadvantages. (One of the supporters that helped push this bill through the state legislature had health benefits after he had his silver/mercury fillings removed.) The Florida Board is trying to get around this with these rules.

The American Public Health Association and the California Medical Association have called for the elimination of putting any mercury in the human body. Congresswoman Diane Watson proposed a law to get rid of mercury dental fillings.

On the other hand, the American Dental Association (ADA) accepts payments from dental silver/mercury amalgam manufacturers for endorsing their products, and, the ADA says that silver/mercury fillings are safe. The ADA has ties to The Florida Dental Association (FDA). And the FDA has ties to the Florida Dental Board. Mercury is considered a very dangerous controlled substance before it is placed in a patient's mouth, and after it has been taken out, it is considered a hazardous waste. But what about when it is in a patient's mouth?

You can show your opposition to these rules by attending an open hearing the Florida Board of Dentistry will have in Tampa on Friday, January 18th, at 1:00 PM at the Hilton Tampa Airport Westshore, 2225 North Lois Ave. (north of I-275 Exit 22), Tampa, FL. (813-877-6688). Simply by being there the Board of Dentistry will get the idea that we, as consumers, want the right to choose our healthcare alternatives.

If you cannot attend, notify your local State Representative and State Senator of your feelings. [located in the blue pages of the white page telephone book under "Officials"] Also, sign and send in this petition:

Dear Friends,

Your help is needed.

You would lose your right to be informed of toxic materials placed in your body.

You would lose your right to choose to have poisonous materials removed from your body.

The Florida Board of Dentistry is proposing rules that will become law if we don't act right now. The 'Good Ole Boys' of the Florida Board want to restrict your freedom to choose what you have placed in or removed from your mouth. They're afraid of the public being informed of the toxicity of mercury they have used in dentistry.

The use of the acute neuro-toxin mercury has been banned from use in vaccines, thermometers, contact lens solution and disinfectants in some states. Mercury is the most toxic non-radioactive metal on earth.

If these rules become law, dentists in Florida would be forbidden from warning you about the dangers of silver/mercury amalgam dental fillings. Dear Friends,

Your help is needed.

You would lose your right to be informed of toxic materials placed in your body.
You would lose your right to choose to have poisonous materials removed from your body.

The Florida Board of Dentistry is proposing rules that will become law if we don't act right now. The 'Good Ole Boys' of the Florida Board want to restrict your freedom to choose what you have placed in or removed from your mouth. They're afraid of the public being informed of the toxicity of mercury they have used in dentistry.

The use of the acute neuro-toxin mercury has been banned from use in vaccines, thermometers, contact lens solution and disinfectants in some states. Mercury is the most toxic non-radioactive metal on earth.

If these rules become law, dentists in Florida would be forbidden from warning you about the dangers of silver/mercury amalgam dental fillings. These laws would prevent your dentist from eliminating your exposure to mercury for health reasons by removing your old silver/mercury amalgam fillings, even if you demanded and insisted that the mercury fillings be removed. If you wanted your silver/mercury fillings taken out for health reasons, your dentist would be committing a crime by replacing your silver/mercury fillings.

The Florida Board is trying to get these rules passed to circumvent the recently passed Florida 'Health Freedom Act' (SB1324) that gives patients the right to be informed of alternative treatments and their benefits and disadvantages. (One of the supporters that helped push this bill through the state legislature had health benefits after he had his silver/mercury fillings removed.) The Florida Board is trying to get around this with these rules.

The American Public Health Association and the California Medical Association have called for the elimination of putting any mercury in the human body. Congresswoman Diane Watson proposed a law to get rid of mercury dental fillings.

On the other hand, the American Dental Association (ADA) accepts payments from dental silver/mercury amalgam manufacturers for endorsing their products, and, the ADA says that silver/mercury fillings are safe. The ADA has ties to The Florida Dental Association (FDA). And the FDA has ties to the Florida Dental Board. Mercury is considered a very dangerous controlled substance before it is placed in a patient's mouth, and after it has been taken out, it is considered a hazardous waste. But what about when it is in a patient's mouth?

Subject: Amalgams

Dear B.J. West,

I am writing to voice my adamant opposition to Florida's law that will make it a crime for a dentist to remove amalgams in order to remove toxins from a person's body. What else do I need to do so that this law may be stricken and citizen's may know the true health hazards of this situation? Please contact me. Thank you.

These laws would prevent your dentist from eliminating your exposure to mercury for health reasons by removing your old silver/mercury amalgam fillings, even if you demanded and insisted that the mercury fillings be removed. If you wanted your silver/mercury fillings taken out for health reasons, your dentist would be committing a crime by replacing your silver/mercury fillings.

The Florida Board is trying to get these rules passed to circumvent the recently passed Florida 'Health Freedom Act' (SB1324) that gives patients the right to be informed of alternative treatments and their benefits and disadvantages. (One of the supporters that helped push this bill through the state legislature had health benefits after he had his silver/mercury fillings removed.) The Florida Board is trying to get around this with these rules.

The American Public Health Association and the California Medical Association have called for the elimination of putting any mercury in the human body. Congresswoman Diane Watson proposed a law to get rid of mercury dental fillings.

On the other hand, the American Dental Association (ADA) accepts payments from dental silver/mercury amalgam manufacturers for endorsing their products, and, the ADA says that silver/mercury fillings are safe. The ADA has ties to The Florida Dental Association (FDA). And the FDA has ties to the Florida Dental Board. Mercury is considered a very dangerous controlled substance before it is placed in a patient's mouth, and after it has been taken out, it is considered a hazardous waste. But what about when it is in a patient's mouth?

You can show your opposition to these rules by attending an open hearing the Florida Board of Dentistry will have in Tampa on Friday, January 18th, at 1:00 PM at the Hilton Tampa Airport Westshore, 2225 North Lois Ave. (north of I-275 Exit 22), Tampa, FL. (813-877-6688). Simply by being there the Board of Dentistry will get the idea that we, as consumers, want the right to choose our healthcare alternatives.

If you cannot attend, notify your local State Representative and State Senator of your feelings. [located in the blue pages of the white page telephone book under "Officials"] Also, sign and send in this petition:

Dear Friends,

Your help is needed.

You would lose your right to be informed of toxic materials placed in your body.

You would lose your right to choose to have poisonous materials removed from your body.

The Florida Board of Dentistry is proposing rules that will become law if we don't act right now. The 'Good Ole Boys' of the Florida Board want to restrict your freedom to choose what you have placed in or removed from your mouth. They're afraid of the public being informed of the toxicity of mercury they have used in dentistry.

The use of the acute neuro-toxin mercury has been banned from use in vaccines, thermometers, contact lens solution and disinfectants in some states. Mercury is the most toxic non-radioactive metal on earth.

If these rules become law, dentists in Florida would be forbidden from warning you about the dangers of silver/mercury amalgam dental fillings. These laws would prevent your dentist from eliminating your exposure to mercury for health reasons by removing your old silver/mercury amalgam fillings, even if you demanded and insisted that the mercury fillings be removed. If you wanted your silver/mercury fillings taken out for health reasons, your dentist would be committing a crime by replacing your silver/mercury fillings.

Dear Friends,

Your help is needed.

You would lose your right to be informed of toxic materials placed in your body.

You would lose your right to choose to have poisonous materials removed from your body.

The Florida Board of Dentistry is proposing rules that will become law if we don't act right now. The 'Good Ole Boys' of the Florida Board want to restrict your freedom to choose what you have placed in or removed from your mouth. They're afraid of the public being informed of the toxicity of mercury they have used in dentistry.

The use of the acute neuro-toxin mercury has been banned from use in vaccines, thermometers, contact lens solution and disinfectants in some states. Mercury is the most toxic non-radioactive metal on earth.

If these rules become law, dentists in Florida would be forbidden from warning you about the dangers of silver/mercury amalgam dental fillings. These laws would prevent your dentist from eliminating your exposure to mercury for health reasons by removing your old silver/mercury amalgam fillings, even if you demanded and insisted that the mercury fillings be removed. If you wanted your silver/mercury fillings taken out for health reasons, your dentist would be committing a crime by replacing your silver/mercury fillings.

The Florida Board is trying to get these rules passed to circumvent the recently passed Florida 'Health Freedom Act' (SB1324) that gives patients the right to be informed of alternative treatments and their benefits and disadvantages. (One of the supporters that helped push this bill through the state legislature had health benefits after he had his silver/mercury fillings removed.) The Florida Board is trying to get around this with these rules.

The American Public Health Association and the California Medical Association have called for the elimination of putting any mercury in the human body. Congresswoman Diane Watson proposed a law to get rid of mercury dental fillings.

On the other hand, the American Dental Association (ADA) accepts payments from dental silver/mercury amalgam manufacturers for endorsing their products, and, the ADA says that silver/mercury fillings are safe. The ADA has ties to The Florida Dental Association (FDA). And the FDA has ties to the Florida Dental Board. Mercury is considered a very dangerous controlled substance before it is placed in a patient's mouth, and after it has been taken out, it is considered a hazardous waste. But what about when it is in a patient's mouth?

You can show your opposition to these rules by attending an open hearing the Florida Board of Dentistry will have in Tampa on Friday, January 18th, at 1:00 PM at the Hilton Tampa Airport Westshore, 2225 North Lois Ave. (north of I-275 Exit 22), Tampa, FL. (813-877-6688). Simply by being there the Board of Dentistry will get the idea that we, as consumers, want the right to choose our healthcare alternatives.

If you cannot attend, notify your local State Representative and State Senator of your feelings. [located in the blue pages of the white page telephone book under "Officials"] Also, sign and send in this petition:

I strongly oppose the intentions of the Florida board of dentistry in limiting my rights by instituting new Rules regarding mercury/silver amalgam dental fillings [64B5-4.002 and 64B5-17.014].
